Each year the Calvert County Public Schools publishes a school calendar and handbook which contains calendar dates and important school system information.

Instead of distributing the 2009 -2010 School Calendar and Handbook to every student this year, Calvert County Public Schools is asking parents and community members to access this document through the school system website.

"We have found that most of our parents have Internet access," said Gail Bennett, school system spokesperson. "Posting the document online will give our parents immediate access to important information and will save the school system thousands of dollars," she said.

Each school will have a small supply of the 2009-2010 School Calendar and Handbook for parents who do not have access to the Internet and request a hard copy.

The 2009-2010 School Calendar & Handbook is available on the homepage of the Calvert County Public Schools website at www.calvertnet.k12.md.us.
