

Commissioners keep promise

To the Editor:

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to the Calvert County Board of County Commissioners for their support of buying the old SMECO building to use as a temporary Community Center in Prince Frederick. The Commissioners have followed through on their campaign promises by providing the leadership in securing a temporary community center, which was recommended and has been needed for many years. This Board of Commissioners is on the road to fulfilling the mandates of the Prince Frederick County Master Plan. Even though it is only a temporary location, I am excited that the center is scheduled to open before the end of the year.

I also look forward to seeing the new place when it is completed as part of the Armory Square development. Please feel free to call on the Calvert Collaborative for Children and Youth, other organizations and the community to help plan for our new Community Center.
