PRINCE FREDERICK, Md. - A Calvert County Public Schools teacher has been placed on administrative leave without pay after being charged with sexual abuse of a minor and other related charges.

On Friday, July 31, a 2020 graduate reported to a school administrator that a teacher had engaged in an inappropriate relationship with her during the 2019-2020 school year. After an initial investigation, school system officials followed CCPS procedures and later that day turned over the information to social services and law enforcement.

The employee, Bryan Mullins of Huntingtown High School, was arrested on Monday, August 3.
