

Opinion - Is citizenship meaningless?

Posted by TBN Editor On 09/15/2017

Prince Frederick, MD - On Tuesday, the City of College Park voted to give non-citizens the right to vote. The measure passed 4-3 to allow non-citizens to vote in citywide elections.

College Park, Maryland is now the largest city to allow non-citizens to vote in the U.S.!

During the debate, a Town Councilman offered an amendment that would allow voters to decide the issue in a referendum. Knowing such a referendum would not pass, a majority of the Council, including the Mayor, refused to allow legal voters to decide.

Simply put, citizens were disenfranchised in order to give non-citizens the right to vote.

If you ever wondered why the Progressive Left opposes voter ID, College Park is a great example. Progressives believe that American citizenship is meaningless.

Copyright © 2019 thebaynet.com. All rights reserved.